A BRIEF HISTORY OF ST HUGH’S COLLEGE

Compared to many Oxford Colleges, St Hugh’s is young, having been founded as St Hugh’s Hall in 1886 by Elizabeth Wordsworth, the great niece of the poet, who was also Principal of Lady Margaret Hall. A champion of women’s education, her foundation of St Hugh’s enabled poorer women to gain an Oxford education, beginning modestly with four students in a house in Norham Road.

Elizabeth Wordsworth’s father was Bishop of Lincoln and that inspired her to adopt the emblem and coat of arms of St Hugh of Avalon who had been Bishop of Lincoln 1186–1200. His emblem was the Swan of Stowe, said to be his companion who guarded him as he slept.

By the time WWI broke out, St Hugh’s Hall was ready for larger premises and a site was purchased, the existing house demolished, and the current Main Building constructed. Since then, St Hugh’s has expanded, by both erecting new buildings and by purchasing the Victorian houses that form its perimeter. New buildings have included the Library (1937), Kenyon Building (1965), Wolfson Building (1967), Rachel Trickett Building (1991), Maplethorpe Building (1999) and, most recently, the Dickson Poon China Centre (2014).

St Hugh’s Hall was incorporated as a College in 1910 and, in 1920, finally became part of the University, along with the other women’s Colleges, when the BA was opened to women.

During WWII, St Hugh’s was requisitioned by the military as a hospital for the treatment of head injuries under Sir Hugh Cairns. During this period, huts were built in the grounds to accommodate the patients and the students were re-housed, primarily at Holywell Manor. After the war, a number of patients continued to be involved in a research project on the long term effects of trauma to the brain and the records of this project are now held in the College archive.

St Hugh’s admitted male undergraduates in 1986, its centenary year. Now more than a century later, over five hundred undergraduates and graduates attend the College. Famous alumni include Emily Wilding Davison, Barbara Castle, Theresa May, Edna Healey, Aung San Suu Kyi, Mary Renault, Joanna Trollope, Eileen O’Shaughnessy, Margaret Lane, Jane Glover, Myfanwy Piper and Miriam Rothschild.

THE LODGE

The Lodge is located at the front of College (adjacent to the Main Entrance gates).

The Lodge Porters are here to help you with any problem that may arise during your stay, or if you need any assistance. In the case of an emergency, please contact the Lodge.

Opening Hours: 24 hours a day, 7 days a week
Telephone: +44 (0)1865 274900

Check-Out Time is 10.00am

Please ensure you return your room keys at the Lodge on the day of your departure. Keys not returned will incur a charge of £25

FIRE PROCEDURES

A Fire action notice is located on the back of the door to your room or on wall by the door to your room.

Please familiarise yourself with these instructions and the location of your nearest fire exit which will be signposted in the corridor outside your room.

Please note our weekly fire alarm test is carried out on Tuesday mornings between 11:00- 11:30. It is not normally necessary to leave the building, but if the alarm sounds longer than 30 seconds then you should evacuate the building using your nearest fire exit.

In the event of a fire alarm or fire, all secured fire doors to corridors, staircases and exits will unlock automatically allowing occupants to safely evacuate the building.

SECURITY

You should always take the precaution of locking your bedroom door and windows whenever you leave your room, even if this is only for a few moments. Also, please ensure that any entrance/exit doors you pass through shut completely behind you.
HOUSEKEEPING

For any queries regarding your stay here, please visit the Accommodation Office, located on the ground floor of the Main Building and open during normal office hours. Please contact the Lodge for any issues outside of office hours.

All rooms are serviced on a daily basis. Toiletries are replenished every day. In order to help the environment, we will only change towels that are left on the bedroom floor.

If you require extra bed linen or pillows, then please contact the Lodge Porters who will be happy to assist.

RESIDENTIAL FACILITIES

Please note that any kitchen facilities in this accommodation block are not intended for any form of self-catering by residential guests.

All electricity sockets our rooms use the standard UK three-pin system. Please do not attempt to use any other type of plug in these sockets. Please always use an appropriate adaptor if you have a different type of plug.

We invite you to explore the beautiful 14 acres of tranquil gardens here at the College.

TELEPHONES

There is a public telephone in the Rachel Trickett Building, near the Library. This telephone can be operated with cash, charge/credit cards, and telephone cards. Telephone cards can be purchased in North Parade.

Family or friends are welcome to leave messages for you at the Lodge for your collection. Please ask them to telephone +44 (0)1865 274900.
