FOREWORD BY THE PRINCIPAL

Lady Elish Angiolini LT DBE PC KC FRSE

On behalf of St Hugh's College Governing Body, I am delighted to present our Equality Report for Michaelmas Term 2022.

As a former women's College, St Hugh's prides itself on its inclusivity. Our aim is to create a truly inclusive and diverse environment in which individual differences are respected and academics, staff and students all have a fair and equal opportunity to fulfil their potential.

This Equality Report sets out our framework for achieving this ambition. The report establishes the College's equality objectives, the actions we will take to achieve them and how we will monitor our progress towards these goals over time.

Producing this report has helped us evaluate our current position with regards to equality and diversity and has enabled us to set a comprehensive framework to embed the promotion of equality, elimination of discrimination, and fostering of good relations throughout the College's activities.

INTRODUCTION

The College

Compared to many Oxford Colleges, St Hugh's is young. Elizabeth Wordsworth, the great niece of the poet, founded it in 1886. But she had a strong sense of the historical perspective in which her new foundation would take its place.

Using money left to her by her father, a Bishop of Lincoln, she named the College after one of his twelfth century predecessors, Hugh of Avalon, who was canonised in 1220, and in whose diocese Oxford had been. Elizabeth Wordsworth was a champion of the cause of women's education, and her foundation was intended to enable poorer women to gain an Oxford education. The first male undergraduates were admitted in 1986 and now the College has a roughly equal mix of men and women undergraduates.

The College also now has a roughly equal number of undergraduate and postgraduate students, with the latter group representing a diverse group of home and international students studying for a wide range of courses at masters and doctoral level.

Our responsibilities

The Governing Body of St Hugh's College has overall responsibility for setting strategic objectives and for taking all reasonable steps to ensure equality of opportunity and the prevention of discrimination, harassment and victimisation of academics, staff, students and visitors in their relationship with the College.

The Equality Committee, which reports directly to Governing Body, is responsible for the development, implementation, and review of policies and practices to support the College's Equality Scheme in relation to academics, staff, students, visitors and others closely associated with the College.

The Presidents of the Junior and Middle Common Rooms (or their representatives) are members of this Committee, and it is afforded by such other College members and members of College staff as most accurately reflect the diversity of backgrounds, experiences, and expertise within the College.

College Officers and Heads of Department are responsible for the day to day implementation and delivery of the College's strategic objectives for equality and diversity.

St Hugh's Equality Report

This report is divided into three main sections:

The Report (this section) sets out our commitment to equality; our responsibilities and how we fulfil them; our arrangements for monitoring and reporting; and contacts for further information.

The Action Plan sets out our equality objectives and the actions we will take to achieve them; our measures of success; and how the objectives align with the Equality Act 2010 and the College's Strategic Framework.

The Benchmarks which show where we are now in terms of promoting equality in relation to the protected characteristics defined in the Equality Act 2010.

We use a number of terms throughout all these sections, and it is important to be clear what we mean by them:

- Equality – the fair and lawful treatment of students, Fellows and staff and the promotion of equality of opportunity between different groups.
- Diversity – the wide range of characteristics and experiences that make us who we are.
- Inclusivity – learning and working cultures that recognize and are welcoming of equality and diversity and reflect this in their policies and practices.

Our commitment

The College is committed to using its best endeavours to ensure that all of its activities are governed by principles of equality of opportunity. We believe that diversity is a source of strength and vitality which underpins the exchange of ideas, innovation and learning at the heart of our academic mission and from which all members of our community benefit. Diversity immeasurably enriches our community.

We recognise that providing an inclusive environment, in which all members of our community can thrive and reach their full potential is integral to our reputation and our ability to continue to recruit the brightest and best students, Fellows and staff.

We are therefore committed to creating and maintaining an inclusive learning and working environment that is free from discrimination, in which all members of our community are treated fairly and where diversity is valued. In putting this commitment into practice, we recognise that we have specific duties actively to prevent discrimination and to promote equality and greater understanding across a range of protected characteristics. We will use this scheme to ensure that no prospective or actual student, academic or member of staff will be treated less favourably than any other, whether before, during or after their study or employment at St Hugh's College with reference to age, disability,¹ race, gender identity, religion or belief, pregnancy and maternity, sex and sexual orientation, or length or type of contract (e.g. part-time or fixed term), or any combination of these characteristics.

Our aim

St Hugh's College aims to provide an inclusive and diverse environment which promotes equality and maintains a working, learning, and social environment in which the rights and dignity of all its academics, staff and students are respected to assist them in reaching their full potential. The College will work to remove any barriers which might deter people of the highest potential and ability from applying to the College, as academics, staff or students. The College understands "potential" and "ability" in broad ways that encompass but are not limited to documented academic excellence.

The Equality Act 2010

The Equality Act 2010 underpins everything that we do in this sphere. The Act prohibits discrimination in employment or in the provision of training and education on the grounds of any of the following protected characteristics:

- age (all ages and age groups)
- disability (physical or mental impairment)
- gender identity
- marriage and civil partnership
- pregnancy or maternity
- race (including ethnic or national origin, colour and nationality)
- religion or belief (religious belief systems, non-religious belief systems and non-belief)
- sex (women and men)
- sexual orientation

The Equality Duty

The Equality Act introduced the concept of the general equality duty, which applies to public bodies and which came into force in April 2011. This duty requires us to have "due regard" to:

- Eliminate unlawful discrimination, harassment and victimisation on the grounds of a protected characteristic;

¹ Under the Equality Act, a person has a disability if they have a physical or mental impairment which has a substantial and long-term adverse effect on their ability to perform normal day-to-day activities

- Advance equality of opportunity between people who share a protected characteristic and those who do not; and
- Foster good relations between people who share a protected characteristic and those who do not.

Having “due regard” to these three aims of the Equality Duty means the College must consider these aims in carrying out its functions as an education provider, service provider and employer.

Specific equality duties

The Equality Act also introduced a number of specific duties, which mean the College has to:

- Annually publish information to demonstrate our compliance with the general equality duty. This should include information on employees and people affected by the College’s services who share a protected characteristic.
- Publish objectives setting out how we will meet the requirements of the Equality Act, at least every four years.
- Ensure the published information and objectives are made available to the public.

OUR APPROACH TO EQUALITY AND DIVERSITY

St Hugh’s is committed to implementing a comprehensive system of equal opportunities for our academics, staff and students, in order to provide a learning, working and social environment in which the rights and dignity of all our members are respected.

Here, we provide an overview of our approach and policies relating to equality and diversity.

Our Policies

The College has separate policies for race (Race Equality Policy) and gender (Gender Equality Scheme and Action Plan) to meet the specific obligations of the Race Relations (Amendment) Act 2000 and the Equality Act 2006. It also has a Code of Practice on Harassment to protect its members from any form of harassment or discriminatory behaviour which might inhibit them from pursuing their work or studies. These are supported by the College’s Freedom of Speech Code of Practice, and Gender Equality Scheme and Action Plan.

Together, these policies and codes of practice form the Equality Scheme.

The Equality Scheme applies to all members of the College community, students, academics and staff, whether permanent, temporary, casual, part-time or on fixed-term contracts; to job applicants; student applicants; current and former students; honorary and associate members; and visitors to the College.

With regard to academics and staff, the Equality Scheme applies (but is not limited) to the advertising of jobs and recruitment and selection, to training and development, to opportunities for promotion, to conditions of service, benefits, facilities and pay, to health and safety, to conduct at work, to grievance and disciplinary procedures and to termination of employment.

With regard to students, the Equality Scheme applies (but is not limited) to admissions, to teaching, learning and research provision, to scholarships, grants and other awards and benefits under the College's control, to student support and welfare, to access to College accommodation and to other buildings, facilities and services, to health and safety, to personal conduct and to student complaints and disciplinary procedures.

The College expects all its academics, staff, students and visitors to take personal responsibility for familiarising themselves with the Equality Scheme and to conduct themselves in an appropriate manner towards other academics, staff, students (prospective, current, and former) and visitors.

Members of the College community have a duty to treat colleagues with respect at all times, and not to discriminate against, victimise,² or harass³ other students, academics, members of staff or visitors, whether junior or senior, to them.

The College regards any breach of the Equality Scheme by any employee(s) or student(s) as a serious matter to be dealt with through its agreed procedures and which may result in disciplinary action.

Complaints

The College is committed to protecting its members from any form of harassment or discriminatory behaviour which might inhibit them from pursuing their work or studies.

Violent, indecent, disorderly, threatening or offensive behaviour or language and bullying are unacceptable forms of behaviour. The College will view seriously any action which runs contrary to these principles and is committed to ensuring an environment in which the dignity of other members of College, members of staff and visitors is respected.

² Victimisation is defined in the Equality Act as treating someone badly because they have done a 'protected act' (or because the institution believes that a person has or is going to do a protected act). A 'protected act' is making a claim or complaint of discrimination (under the Equality Act), helping someone else to make a claim by giving evidence or information, making an allegation that the further or higher education institution or someone else has breached the Act, or doing anything else in connection with the Act.

³ There are three types of harassment that are unlawful under the Equality Act: unwanted conduct related to a relevant protected characteristic, unwanted conduct of a sexual nature or that is related to gender reassignment or sex, and less favourable treatment because the person concerned submits to or rejects the unwanted conduct. 'Of a sexual nature' can cover verbal, non-verbal or physical conduct including unwelcome sexual advances, inappropriate touching, forms of sexual assault, sexual jokes, displaying pornographic photographs or drawings, or sending emails with material of a sexual nature.

Any prospective or current student, academic or member of staff, or visitor, who has a complaint concerning a breach of this policy, may bring such a complaint to the College.

Harassment by any Senior or Junior Member of the College, or by any employee of the College, on grounds of age, disability, gender reassignment, marital or civil partnership status, pregnancy or maternity, race, religion or belief (or lack of it), sex and sexual orientation is a disciplinary offence and should be reported according to the College's Code of Practice. Harassment may be broadly understood as consisting of a course of unwarranted behaviour such as to cause – and which may reasonably be expected to cause – such distress or annoyance as seriously to disrupt the work or substantially to reduce the quality of life of another person. It includes any offensive physical act, behaviour or expressions which relate to any of the protected characteristics.

Complaints of harassment, victimisation or bullying will be dealt with according to the College's Code of Practice on Harassment. Initially, attempts will be made to resolve the problem informally by discussion and conciliation. If such attempts fail, formal disciplinary proceedings may be commenced. Any member of the College who wishes to make a complaint or discuss any possible case of harassment informally and in confidence is invited to contact the Bursar, Senior Tutor, HR Manager, or any member of the welfare team. They may also speak in confidence to one of the College's two Harassment Advisors: Ms Karen Peake and Ms Nora Khayi. A friend, or (in the case of students) a JCR Welfare Officer or MCR Welfare Officer, can be asked to contact one of these on behalf of the complainant. The Code of Practice is available from the Bursary or via the College's website.

Similarly, abusive behaviour of any sort – including but not limited to harassment, intimidation, victimisation or discrimination on the grounds of age, disability, gender reassignment, marital or civil partnership status, pregnancy or maternity, race, religion or belief (or lack of it), sex and sexual orientation – is a disciplinary offence, which should be reported through the channels outlined above.

RESPONSIBILITIES

Students, staff and other members of the College community

All members of the College community have a responsibility to uphold the College's commitment to equality and diversity by:

- Treating students, staff and visitors to the College with dignity and respect.
- Not engaging in, colluding in, or encouraging behavior that constitutes unlawful discrimination under the Equality Act.
- Supporting activities to eliminate discrimination, advance equality of opportunity, and foster good relations as required under the Equality Act.

Members of the College found to have engaged in unlawful discrimination will be subject to disciplinary measures up to and including expulsion in the case of students, and dismissal in the case of staff.

Third parties carrying out services on behalf of the College are also expected to comply with the College's policies. Failure to do so will result in contracts being terminated.

Governing Body

Governing Body is responsible for setting the strategic direction and policies governing all aspects of the College's activity. In addition to Governing Body members' individual responsibilities as members of the College, Governing Body has overall legal responsibility for the College's compliance with the Equality Act 2010.

Equality Committee

It is the responsibility of the Equality Committee to oversee the development of Equal Opportunities policy frameworks and objectives and their application in the College, working as appropriate with the relevant colleagues and bodies. The Committee is also responsible for reviewing equal opportunity data collected by the College and for providing a forum at which student views on any matters relating to equality and equal opportunities can be raised.

MONITORING, REPORTING AND PUBLISHING

The Equality Report will inform future decision-making, equality and diversity policy development, and equality and diversity objectives throughout the College – in relation to academic, student and staff matters, conference services and student accommodation. It will also be the basis for comparison for future equal opportunity monitoring data we collect. It will be reviewed on an annual basis by the College's Equality Committee to establish progress against objectives and to identify new actions, as appropriate, for the coming academic year. The outcomes of the review will be collated in an annual report alongside an analysis of any student and staff data as required by the Equality Act. This will then be reported to the College's Governing Body.

The annual Equality Report, action plan, and updated Scheme will be published on the College's public website.

2022/23 ACTION PLAN

Introduction

The action plan sets out the College's equality objectives for 2022-23. Objectives have been identified by benchmarking 'where we are now' – through analysis of data trends, best practice and consultations with students and staff – and identifying where improvements could be made to further promote equality across the College's functions and activities.

Action Plan Headings

Equality Objectives – what we want to achieve

Rationale – why we have identified this objective

Actions – what we will do during the academic year to achieve the objective

Success measures – the metrics we will use to measure the success of the action against the objective

Responsibility – the team, committee, group or body responsible for the action. Accountability rests with the head of the team, chair of the Committee/group or leader of the body responsible.

Protected Characteristics

Each action plan objective is related to at least one of the Equality Act protected characteristics of age, disability, gender identity, pregnancy or maternity, race, religion or belief, sex and sexual orientation.

Equality Duty

The objectives also support at least one element of the Equality Act equality duty to:

- Eliminate unlawful discrimination on the grounds of a protected characteristic;
- Advance equality of opportunity between people who share a protected characteristic and those who do not; and
- Foster good relations between people who share a protected characteristic and people who do not.

College Strategic Goals

Each objective is also aligned with at least one of the College's strategic goals. In no particular order, these are to:

1. Balance a thriving culture of research, scholarship and intellectual custodianship with a commitment to teaching at the highest level;
2. Recruit the best minds and nurture the next generation of academics;
3. Continue the work of bringing our endowment to a sustainable level;
4. Increase bursary, scholarship and hardship funding for students, particularly at graduate level;

5. Raise funds to endow and protect Fellowships;
6. Reduce energy costs and improve the energy efficiency of the College's estate;
7. Establish a fundraising programme to facilitate refurbishment of the physical estate;
8. Develop a programme of events accessible to the public;
9. Involve our students more closely in the development of College business;
10. Make best use of the opportunities the China Centre presents to the College estate and community;
11. Celebrate the achievements of our alumni in many walks of life and areas of the world;
12. Improve diversity in the College community, in particular to address the under-representation of women and ethnic minorities on the Governing Body;
13. Develop a breadth and range in the programme of informal events to allow different groups within College to socialise together and break down barriers;
14. Reach out to our academic communities: encourage our members to become involved in a range of academic, social and cultural events and programmes. In addition, to seek out volunteering opportunities in the external community for our students.

The Covid-19 pandemic has created – and continues to create – many challenges for the advancement of these strategic goals, especially those related to the College's finances and social environment. However, we remain committed to these goals and, where appropriate, will explore alternative means of meeting them. The College will continue to review and refine our strategic goals this year.

b) Ensure that all those involved in admissions have received appropriate briefing on the implications of equality issues in selection of students	i) New tutors taking part in admissions must undertake interviews training, which includes training in bias, discrimination, and inclusivity. All tutors must undertake refresher training every 5 years. ii) All admissions interviews involve more than one interviewer. Where suitably qualified individuals are available, interview panels will include a mix of genders. iii) All admitting tutors understand the College’s policy on admissions	Senior Tutor, College Office Training is mandatory for all new interviewers and refresher training is mandatory for all involved in interviewing; the College Office regularly reminds all interviewing staff about their training obligations and the University Admissions Office monitors take-up”
c) Evaluate admissions data (available data pertains to sex, disability, age, and socio-economic disadvantage) to ensure that the College is making progress on diversifying its student body.	i) Equality Committee analyses and discusses admissions data at least once a year and identifies any issues and actions to be taken in response	Senior Tutor, Equality Committee, Tutor for Equality and Diversity, Governing Body In MT2020, the College for the first time collected its own data on applicants, shortlisted candidates, and offer-holders with respect to: state/independent education and POLAR and ACORN scores. An ‘away day’ was held in Sept. 2021 to discuss the College’s admissions practices and to help the Senior Tutor to formulate an updated admissions policy, to include routine data evaluation, to be presented to GB in time for it to affect the 2022 Admissions cycle

Rationale – Students from Black, Asian, and Minority Ethnic communities continue to be underrepresented in the College’s student body, especially at the undergraduate level.		Responsibility
a) Ensure all staff and students receive training in race awareness and racial bias	i) Arrangement of professional training ii) Attendance at and feedback from staff and students iii) Black, Asian, and Minority Ethnic students feel supported by and fully integrated into the College community (JCR and MCR reps to report)	Tutor for Equality and Diversity, Equality Committee, JCR, MCR, Governing Body As outlined above (see Objective 4), in 2021 the Diversity Trust has run two race awareness workshops for students and staff, as well as a session on unconscious bias – including racial basis – for Governing Body. Such workshops will continue on an annual basis. Ongoing
b) Increase the number of Black, Asian, and Minority Ethnic students we are admitting	i) Encouraging more applications from Black, Asian, and Minority Ethnic students. ii) College website and communications emphasizes diversity and inclusivity and actively welcomes applications from Black, Asian, and Minority Ethnic students. iii) Organization of events and activities that celebrate Black, Asian, and Minority Ethnic cultures and individuals.	Tutor for Equality and Diversity, Senior Tutor, Equality Committee, JCR, Outreach officer, Comms, Governing Body A series of articles were featured on the website during Black History Month 2022 including the first Lady Ademola Scholarship holder, a Lady Ademola Project update, promotion of Sir Geoff Palmer’s lecture on the website and social media, and promotion of the exhibition “My Complexion” featuring art by Oxford artist Annan Affotey as well as social media posts for the above throughout the month with #BlackHistoryMonth. We celebrated festivals such as Diwali and Hannukah when we had themed Halls and social media posts with relevant hashtags. For LGBTQ+ month we posted details of events held by MCR/JCR with relevant hashtag. Mental Health Awareness week – social media posts with relevant hashtag, including the wellbeing workshops run by the College Nurse and Gardeners. The College has now established a Lady Ademola Fund, which provides a scholarship for a student from Africa to study at masters level in Oxford. It has also established an annual Lady Ademola lecture, to be given by an eminent speaker of Black, African, or Caribbean heritage who may speak on any topic related to their expertise or experience. The second lecture in Trinity Term 2022 was given by Sir Geoff Palmer, and a third lecture in Michaelmas Term 2022 by Prof. Essaka Joshua.

There is some difficulty in knowing whether to compare our data with data for the local or national population. For a number of the jobs people are willing to commute from distances that might be considered outside the range of the local job market or move to the area. But this would not apply to all the positions within the College. Also there is no data available on the levels of disability within the Oxford or national population. Therefore, as a different way to assess how we are performing, we will look for opportunities to benchmark our data against local organisations who may face similar challenges to us.

We already use our equal opportunity recruitment monitoring form but these forms are not returned by all applicants. We would like to be in a position where we have the fullest picture of the applicants we are attracting. Therefore, we will encourage all applicants to complete the anonymous equal opportunity monitoring form during the recruitment process. This will allow us to see whether there are certain groups who are underrepresented or not applying for vacancies, consider the possible reasons behind this and introduce measures to counteract it in future. We will also monitor the return rates of the equal opportunity recruitment monitoring form and implement changes to the form if the return rate stays the same or declines.

For a number of our academic appointments, we are not the primary employer and so we do not coordinate the recruitment process and do not have access to the equal opportunity recruitment monitoring information collected. This means that we do not get the complete picture about who applies for academic vacancies.
